DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 – 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fujita et al. (US 2006/0073989)
3. In regards to claims 1 – 3, Fujita teaches a grease composition for automobile electrical equipment comprising base oil and thickener (abstract), carbon black with a mean particle size of preferably 10 – 300nm [0037], extreme pressure (EP) additives such as zinc dithiophosphate and organomolybdenum compounds [0041], and salts of organic acids [0040].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1 – 3, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kinoshita et al. (US 6,432,889) in view of Iso et al. (US 2002/0076125)

8. In regards to claims 1 – 3, Kinoshita teaches a grease composition for a constant velocity joint comprising a base oil, thickener, extreme pressure agents such as phosphorus and molybdenum compounds (abstract, column 1 lines 4 – 6, and column 7 lines 40 – 47). The grease comprises carbonated metal sulfonates (column 5 lines 34 – 44). Kinoshita does not teach that the grease comprises carbon black.

Iso teaches a grease composition for rolling bearing which is a part in constant motion (abstract). Iso similarly teaches the grease comprises carbon black having a mean particle size of 10 to 300nm [0029].

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have used the solid lubricant taught by Iso in the invention of Kinoshita, because Iso provides a suitable particle size for carbon black solid lubricants used in lubricant greases.
